PREDICTS BIG FUTURE FOR MEXICAN TRACK

New York, April 20 .- Senor Bon Alberto Terrazas, president of the Juarez Jockey club, is an interested spectator this week at the Aqueduct race track. He is preparing to get together a small stable to race on eastern tracks. Regarding racing in the east, Mr. Terrazas is silent, but he speaks confidently of the situation in Mexico, expressing his opinion that racing will replace bull-fighting as the national pastime in his country before many years. "We have nineteen years more to race at our track," said the distinguished visitor, and there is no question that the sport will improve each season. The first meeting was better than we expected. The attendance was more than satisfactory; the class of horses that raced was of the finest and better than anything else, everybody was sorry to leave Juarez."

A meeting of the stockholders in the Mexican course will be held here this week and plans will be formulated for the coming season. The purses will be materially increased in the effort to make the value of the events sufficiently large to induce many of the stables that usually winter in New York to ship to Mexico. to ship to Mexico.
